Dear Rabbi Gordon,

I wanted to thank you for inviting Ronit to participate in the Lifting the Human Spirit by Visiting the Sick (LHSVS) program at the Claremont. I know it required extraordinary effort and time on your part to make the program successful. It was a great experience for Ronit and I really think she benefited from her involvement. I was able to sit in on parts of the program and was especially impressed by the role-playing segment and the inspirational talk by Bob Love.

I know too many people who are uncomfortable with visiting hospitals or nursing homes. Perhaps they do not want to be confronted with illness and old age. I think one of the most important aspects of the LHSVS program is that Ronit is now comfortable visiting nursing home patients and she knows what constitutes a "good" visit.

I hope Ronit has the opportunity to participate in more programs at the Claremont in the future. Thanks again.

Sincerely,

Rachelle H. Miller, M.D.
